Customer Reviews

Let me start off by saying that I have fallen in LOVE with R. L. Mathewson and her novels. This series and the Pyte/Sentinel series are my current faves. As the 7th book in the "Neighbor from Hell" series, this book is a great addition. I loved Duncan, Necie, and Grandpa. This book differed from previous incarnations of this series in that the 'neighbor from hell' was Necie, a clumsy, accident prone woman who lives next door to Duncan. For the better part of a year, Duncan has struggled to stay out of the way of his neighbor, until one day he couldn't anymore. I really enjoyed this book, but one of the main things that bothers me is the number of grammatical and spelling errors. For the number of books that have been produced by this author and the insanely fun feel of them, I just truly expected better at this point. R.L. if you are reading this, hit me up and I don't mind helping edit. Seriously, a good editor can take a book and make a good book even better. Despite that, I love the works by this author and definitely recommend them. Enjoy.

No cliffhanger
Standalone though part of a larger series
Told from both POVs
Way more errors than I am used to by this author
The entire neighbor from hell series is by far my favorite book series ever. Each book has you in tears because you are laughing so hard. Duncan has been mentioned in previous books. He is a fire fighter and all around a good guy. Necie is his highly accident prone neighbor. For a year straight he avoids her at all costs because when he does cross paths with her he usually ends up in the ER. A freak storm brings them together and let me tell you, it is off the charts... But like most Bradford men Duncan says the wrong thing and breaks her heart. More hilarity ensues between the Bradford clan and Duncan and Necie's grandfather... Think kidnapping at gun point... and finally Duncan realizes he needs to decide if Necie is his "one". Don't want to give too much away but if you have read the other books you know food, buffets and fights likely come into play. The only reason I didn't give this book 5 stars is because it felt a bit rushed to me and because there were so many more editing errors than I am used to from this author that they took away from the story a bit. Still can't wait for the next book in this series.

A typical day in the Bradford world. Serious food addiction, pleasure in annoying every relative they have, being driven mad by an "annoying, bratty" woman and kidnapping. Duncan and Necie are the typical NFH couple, maddeningly cute, funny and take great pleasure in torturing each other. Duncan, an exhausted Emergency worker and Necie an amazing cook working in her grandfathers bakery. Amazing cook plus Bradford is a match made in heaven, but of course Necie is a total Klutz and on numerous occasions causes Duncan injury. He loathes her, avoids her, despises her, can't stop tracking her with his eyes. I loved all the Bradford stories, they're witty, cute, sassy, sexy, funny. What I didn't particularly like about CFH was, 27 year old virgin. It's just a little over done. And it was a little too easy, yes there was plenty of "injury" but a little angst would have propelled this story just that bit further. However this doesn't take from the words R.L spins. Staying true to the Bradford name, curse, traditions and all. R.L delivers a fast paced light hearted romance. Something a little different from mainstream romance but still a fantasy so easy to get lost in while reading it. If your wanting a quirky funny easy read then the NFH series is definitely for you.

My stomach hurts. I laughed so hard my stomach hurts. I don't know what was funnier-- Duncan Bradford and all of the antics of his family or Necie, the virgin klutz. If I didn't have so many books to read I would go back and read the series all over again--so funny. Necie has just returned home to help run the bakery. She hasn't even gone in the house and she is injuring Duncan. Life goes down hill from there. I thought I would die of laughter when poor Necie slipped, letting loose of a cart full of pastries. The Bradfords came to her aid until the pastry cart was discovered. The fight was on between parents, brothers, and cousins, leaving Duncan to help Necie. It is a day that will live in infamy. It is a game changing day. Let the mating dance begin, crash, burn, restart, force (getting the idea). Gotta love the Bradfords. Niece's grandfather is one cool unique old man. Can you imagine a 65 year old man giving lessons on "the talk" and condom use. He doesn't just teach, he supplies. I will never look at a banana the same way. Let me warn you--don't drink anything while reading. It is such a pain to stop and clean up. I will be reading Christmas from Hell next holiday season.

I have loved the Neighbor From Hell series, so I pretty much know what to expect and I was looking forward to reading this book. This book was very disappointing for me. Cursing in every other sentence that just seemed like overkill. Inconsistency from the beginning to the end. I'm use to the farfetched nature of these stories but this one wasn't working. Necie was the ultimate klutz but then at certain points in the book the clumsiness seemed to disappear like when they had sex, making the story inconsistent. Misuse and misspellings of words ran rampant. Spoiler alert... Unrealistically, a virgin has sex for the first time which is very rough and she enjoys it right from the start. :/ The usual kidnapping scene was off...and then rushed to wrap up the ending the way they all do. Sexual language was very explicit but just didn't work for me. This book seemed thrown together. I'm still a fan of this author but I was very disappointed in this book. Sorry.
