The Spiritual Design Of Creation

Synopsis

The evidence presented in The Spiritual Design of Creation points to the existence of an invisible universe parallel to the visible. It demonstrates that these two dimensions of creation are complementary to each other, and unless we learn to harmonize them in our life and set them to motion, like the two wings of a bird, we cannot rise to our divine destiny. We are not billions of cells assembled to live for a few decades, to age, and then be buried forever in a grave! Each of us is a soul with a celestial destiny. Unless we become airborne and witness the divine blessings in store for us, we cannot manifest our potential; we cannot attain the true state of happinessâ€”even if we own all the treasures of the earth. We are enclosed like an egg within the shell of our earthly life. Unless we break out of the shell and fly heavenward, we cannot attain true liberty, we cannot witness the wonders that we are designed to experience. The shell will impede our vision on multiple levels. On one level, the shell is the pessimism that surrounds us; it is our negative attitude that stifles our desire to search for meaning and purpose in our life. The shell is also our ego that prevents us from acknowledging our need to break through the illusions that have kept us closed to new ideas.
