Customer Reviews

Let me start by saying Keri Smith is my second favorite author. I love crafts and I was so excited to find out that she was writing another Wreck This Journal but Wreck It Everywhere. It is smaller than the other ones so it basically travel size. Slide it into a pocket or into a purse. It about the size of the length of your middle finger down to your thumb but a little bit smaller. It is like a little notepad about three and a half inches. I think it is much different than the Wreck This Journal in size and prompts but there are six or seven prompts that are similar to regular Wreck This Journal first thing that is similar that I noticed Stain log, Pokes holes in page, Rub dirt here page and a few others. But over all this is similar style of how she made the books with prompts and all but not a different version of Wreck This Journal it's has many new ideas and a few old ones. I love the size I like the new prompts such get this page stamped by someone (post office) I think there are a lot of new ideas. Only thing I mean that is slightly annoying is there is four pages of the same thing that says Wreck This Book in your own choosing and document it. It's a small book so in a way you want as many activities you can get in your book as possible. It is interesting I wish the book was five dollars because it seems like it should really cost that much. I would recommend it the fans of wreck this book as well as teens. I don't know if I would recommend it to people over twenty four because it seems like it is more for teens rather than adults. I don't know if an adult would collect bugs and stick them on a page. But it seems fun over all and I would buy it again!
