If The Rogue Fits (Must Love Rogues Book 2)

Synopsis

A Misunderstood Shrew: Lady Margaret is infamous throughout London as the most volatile and shrewish of all young ladies. After four years on the market, with a vast fortune, her determination to remain unwed is legendary. Having a decidedly plain face, Margaret has learned that men only want her for her money, and the unkindness of those around her has led her to protect her heart with a cutting tongue and willingness to shove silly young men into orchestra pits. When she meets the Earl of Carlyle, the beautiful and seductive lord, who makes her body yearn for his touch, seems like he might be different than the rest. But when Margaret finds out the earl has been less than honest in his pursuit for her hand, will she ever be able to forgive him and find a way to love?

A Lord Who Has No Wish to Tame Her: William Deveraux, Earl of Carlyle, is in desperate need of funds. His father, a ruinous gambler, has driven the earldom, its estate, and his tenants, into destitution. There's only one thing for William to do. Wed and wed well. Undaunted that the only available lady with a sufficient fortune at present is Margaret the Mad, he's determined to win her by any means. . . Even by deceit. But when Margaret discovers his lies, he finds he's fallen for the plain yet oh so witty woman who is his savior in many ways. Will he ever be able to win her heart and convince her that she is the most wonderful woman in the world? Or will her years of being treated foully by society, ensure Margaret never lets him into her heart?

This is the second book in the "Must Love Rogues" Series. Everytime Eva releases another book she surpasses my expectations. I absolutely loved the heroine Margaret!! She might be my favorite that Eva has ever written. She is a tough no nonsense kind of young lady. She is no beauty, she knows this because her father and sister have told her all her adult life. The only reason a man would want to marry her is for her 80,000 pound dowry. She still goes to Society events because her Father forces her. He has dictated that her beautiful younger sister cannot marry until Margaret does. So she attends and usually just finds a place out of the way where she can hide from the fortune hunters until it time to go home. Lord William Deveraux, Earl of Carlyle needs a wife now! His father bankrupted the Earldom before he died. William spent the last 10 years traveling the globe so he would not have to be in the same country with his wastrel father. When he asks a friend to show him to the richest girl in the room, he gets way more than he asked for. This young lady is a shrew and a man hater. William cannot afford to be picky so he sets out to catch an heiress. Margaret is hiding in the conservatory when the most beautiful man she had ever seen came in and was calling her name. She tries to avoid him but he is presistent. They wind up dancing and in an outright fashion she tells him that she knows he is only after her dowry. Just like every other man. She is supposed to believe this handsome Lord wants her not her money...Ha...she turns around and leaves him alone on the dance floor. This is the beginning of a journey of self discovery for both Margaret and William.
